Pertinent Paragraphs

That prune and apricot growers of California are intelligent people was proved when it became known that sufficient tonnage had been signed up to insure the continuance of the California Prune and Apricot Growers association. For a time it was feared that a certain mental deficiency was general among orchardists. Personally, we harbored little doubt as to a satisfactory outcome of the recent strenuous campaign to secure signers, and our judgment has been handsomely vindicated.

Not only were the growers dependent on a marketing organization for continued prosperity. Far from it. Every man and woman who earns a living in the fruit raising area would have found themselves in a precarious position if efforts of the organizers had failed. Business will now proceed as usual, we believe, and money will loosen up a bit—we hope.

Harry F. Sinclair must serve three months in jail and pay a fine of $500 for contempt of the senate in refusing to answer all the questions asked in the late Teapot Dome unpleasantness. The oil magnate has 25 days in which to ask for a rehearing. We trust that nothing happens to prevent Mr. Sinclair from spending three months in the hoosegow, our opinion being that the "oily" magnate escaped with a very light sentence.

San Jose police this week are conducting a campaign against reckless motorists in an endeavor to make city streets safe for pedestrians and other motorists. Campbell has no traffic squad with which to wage similar war on automobile operators who are inclined to be reckless, but we believe the town can request—and receive—a bit of aid from the county traffic bureau. In line with a statewide attack on reckless drivers, Campbell should request aid in an effort to curb local lads who, in the exuberance of youth, make Campbell streets unsafe for their elders.

Senator Borah of Idaho tromped on tradition this week, appearing topped with a straw kelly, weeks in advance of May 15. The senator was bothered by the excessive warmth in Washington. To date Santa Clara valley folks have not been bothered by "excessive" warmth—or any other kind—but we have observed upon Campbell streets this week a number of youths who are not allowing Washington to get ahead of them in matters of what the well-dressed men are wearing.

That's all.

KIWANIS NOTES

Chairman Lou Shelley, who carries about a bag of tricks, pulled two from his storehouse at Tuesday's luncheon and has the boys still guessing. He made a pay gate of the stunt and everybody paid for the show.

Chester Herold, president of the San Jose Better Business bureau, gave a very interesting talk on the work and benefits of the organization. There are in the United States 55 such bureaus and their objective is just what the name implies. It aims to curtail untrue statements in advertising. The rulings of the federal trade commission are followed and co-operation with other organizations is carried on with much success. The standards of articles sold are established that the buying public may benefit and faith in merchants may be stronger.

The educational and publicity committees will control the broadcast Tuesday and N. Hedegard and G. E. Farley will be the officers of the dy. Ralph Hyde, chairman of the building committee reported about $2,000 pledged toward the proposed hall for local youngsters. It is hoped that within the week the balance of $500 may be raised so that operations may be commenced soon.

SEA SCOUTS LABOR TO RAISE FUNDS FOR CRAFT

The Campbell sea scouts are conducting an intensive paper drive to acquire funds with which to add to their sea craft. Any one who has papers or magazines which they would be willing to dispose of will confer a favor by calling the Grattan garage, Campbell 71-J, and some one will call for them.

UNUSUAL PROGRAM MARKS ODD FELLOW DISTRICT MEETING

Odd Fellows lodges of District No. 20 gathered Saturday night at the grammar school auditorium where they enjoyed an unusually good program. Rebekahs also were present. District Deputy Grand Master Julius Bachman presided.

The meeting was opened with a concert by the Hughes band of Los Gatos and San Jose. Past Grand Master Charles L. Snyder substituted for the Rev. Alonzo Sterling of Los Gatos, past grand master of Missouri, who was to have spoken, and later introduced Howard Milholland, manager and announcer of KGO, General Electric radio station at Oakland, who, with his entertainers, amused the audience.

The meeting was closed with a benediction by the Rev. J. H. Bennett.

CONGREGATIONAL MEN STAGE GOOD FEED WEDNESDAY

The men of the Congregational church staged a very successful supper Wednesday evening. The cuisine was of a very high order, the tables correctly laid and the service very satisfactory.

It is reported that the ladies are quite willing to resign the task at any time and become the served instead of the servers.

Fathers Guests Of Honor At Campfire Party

Camp Fire girls of Campbell under Mrs. Frances Swane and Miss Elsie Merrill, together with members of that group from Cambrian under the supervision of Mrs. Jane McNeill, Friday night at the Community hall, entertained their fathers at a banquet. About eighty-five fathers and daughters were present.

After the guests and hostesses had found their places at the prettily appointed table, Mrs. Louis Shelley, county Camp Fire executive, introduced Miss Edith Titcomb, Miss Philoma Goldsworthy and Miss Helen Bliss, Camp Fire leaders, all of San Jose. Each girl then introduced her dad.

Interspersed with cheers and selections by the orchestra composed of Ethel Kirk and Ruth Bollinger, violins; Lorena Wingard, cello; Mona Keesling, flute; Betty Keesling, trumpet, and Elsie Merrill, piano, the following program was enjoyed:

Acrobatic dance, Anne McManus; "The Organization of Camp Fire," Emma Gaiser; "The Camp Fire Law," Sally Davidson; "The Ceremonial Gown and Honor System," Lorena Wingard; "The Boat in g Song," Mrs. Swane's group; talk on "Camp" by Miss Philoma Goldsworthy (a member of the first Camp Fire group in California and the organizer of Camp Fire in this county); talk by Mrs. Louis Shelley; trumpet solos, "Indian Dawn" and "Bluebird of My Heart," Betty Keesling; pantomime stunt, Miss Merrill's group; talk from the dais, Dr. W. I. Merrill, and closing song and taps by the girls.

Decorations for the affair were by Mrs. Swane's group, the program was prepared by Miss Merrill's group and Mrs. McNeill's girls attended to the clean-up—all of the girls exemplifying the Camp Fire law:

- Seek Beauty.
- Give Service.
- Pursue Knowledge.
- Be Trustworthy.
- Hold Onto Health.
- Glorify Work.
- Be Happy.

GRANGE NOTES

Every seat in the banquet room of Odd Fellows hall was filled by Grangers Tuesday evening and many were at the second table.

Three of our neighboring Granges were represented by visiting members from Mountain View, East Palo Alto and Morgan Hill.

The drill team put on the work of the third and fourth degrees in a very pleasing manner. The marching and singing was accompanied by the Grange orchestra which was a new feature in the organization and added materially to the initiatory work.

A resolution from Morgan Hill Grange presenting a plan for a county health department as provided for in the local health district act was passed upon. Too many health departments working separately at present do not make for uniformity and the best health interests of the county. There would be 13 units in the county all working together under one supervising head with this plan.

Watchman Fund On Decline Says Committee Report

At a Monday night meeting of the chamber of commerce executive committee it became known that the fund out of which the night watchman's salary comes is being neglected by some of the subscribers thereto. Action is to be taken in an effort to get this fund back on a solid footing, otherwise it may become necessary to draw from the general fund for a part of the officer's pay.

Ed Genasci and Al Covey, special committeemen appointed to devise a system of house numbering for Campbell, reported progress.

The publicity committee, G. E. Farley, chairman, reported on the possibilities of an "air traffic" sign which would inform aviators of the town over which they were flying. The proposed sign will, if carried, appear on the roof of the south warehouse of the George E. Hyde company plant in letters 24 feet high and seven feet wide. The cost, however, may prove prohibitive.

The highway and publicity committees were instructed to see what could be done toward having "Campbell" added to highway signs bearing the legend, "To Los Gatos and Santa Cruz."

The chamber was represented Tuesday evening at a Union district road meeting by G. E. Farley, B. O. Curry, C. H. Whitman and R. Noddin. At this meeting it was unofficially announced that Union avenue will be paved sometime this summer.

NAZARENE CHURCH OF SAN JOSE OPENS A MISSION AT CAMPBELL

The Rev. C. W. Welts, pastor of the Nazarene church of San Jose will open a Nazarene mission back of Miller's old store Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

About thirty young people will have charge of these services and all are welcome to attend.

and it is thought it would work out much better results in case of epidemics.

Brother Norton of Morgan Hill spoke favoring the resolution. Committees are being appointed by the various Granges to investigate the matter for Santa Clara county.

San Joaquin county has the plan in operation and it is highly spoken of by those who are familiar with it.

The orchard committee reported heavy losses of apricots and other fruits, but is too early yet to know the full extent of the damages.

Leroy Anderson talked on legislation and A. H. Harms discussed disbudbing of roses and other flowers to produce larger and more perfect blossoms. He also advised the use of sulphur dusting early and often to prevent mildew, and a spray of Black Leaf 40 to kill aphids.

The sewing circle meets Friday, April 19, with Mrs. Hedegard.

Past masters night will be observed April 23 when all past masters of Orchard City Grange are expected to be present.

EDUCATIONAL PREPARATION A GROWING REQUIREMENT FOR SUCCESS IN MODERN BUSINESS

h-Knell! Sounded for Guesswork and Slipshod odds by Advancing Technical Proficiency in Science, Trade and Industry—How Banks Are Developing a Professionally Qualified Generation of Younger Bankers.

By HAROLD STONIER
American Bankers Association

THE great school of Experience is still holding classes in America, but the scientific spirit of the age has so generally invaded the workshops of industry and trade that they have largely become technical research and training laboratories in themselves and are no longer run on the old-fashioned cut-and-try methods of former generations when Experience was considered the only teacher. It would be hard to find a working force in any pre-eminently successful business or industrial organization in the United States today but what the dominating leadership is schooled in the scientific principles of its specific field, whether manufacturing, merchandising or finance. The rapidly advancing standards of business in this country, with their relentless demands for efficiency as the only hope for survival in the competitive struggle for economic existence, has sounded the death-knell for guesswork and slipshod methods.

As a result, educational preparation in the techniques of commerce, industry and finance are virtually essential to outstanding success in these fields, as it is already an absolute prerequisite in the various recognized professions. This is not to depreciate the value of native ability and experience in business, but education after all is merely a means for helping the individual to apply the net good of the accumulated experience of many to his own day's work—a means for helping special native ability to come into its own more rapidly and surely and for enabling all classes of ability to gain the maximum of success to which they are entitled.

These facts are plainly recognized by practical, work-a-day business in every line. Every progressive business organization in America is emphasizing the importance of education as never before. Education has come to be looked upon as the answer to many of the problems within the organization as well as to problems affecting industry as a whole.

Business Organizing Institutes

Institutes for developing specifically qualified workers are being operated or organized in many fields of commercial and industrial activity. These institutes are trying various types of educational work with a distinct trend toward more and more emphasis upon education for the rank and file of business employees of all grades.

We have been having business failures in this country at the rate of about 2,000 a month. This score speaks for itself. It is glaring evidence of incompetence on the part of thousands of business men in handling the problems inherent in their fields of endeavor. The detailed records show that practically 75% of business failure in this country is due to lack of training and competence on the part of those who failed. This is conclusive evidence that no one can afford to undertake executive business responsibilities without adequate education and training. It is for that reason that every enlightened business organization is today insisting as never before that its employees take advantage of some type of technical training.

American banking is fortunate and has just cause for pride in that it has a record of twenty-eight years of definitely organized educational activity among its workers to its credit for developing trained bankers. People in banks in large numbers are taking advantage of the educational opportunity given by the great non-commercial college of the banking business, the American Institute of Banking. They see on every hand evidences of the value of the training it gives. Of the 10,000 graduates of this Institute, 70% now occupy official positions in American banks. The other 30% are still too young to have attained such heights. Here is an example and an encouragement to the people of all lines of business.

The American Institute of Banking has a membership of 64,320. Of these 33,851 are class enrollees, comprising younger bank people, both men and women, who are learning the scientific technique of their chosen business at the same time they are engaged in the practical work of earning their livings at it. The difference between the 33,851 enrolled in classes and the 64,320 total membership comprises older bankers who have taken the Institute courses in the past or are at the present time sponsoring some type of educational work in the organization.

Banking Educates Its People

It has been estimated that there are probably 375,000 bank officers and employees in the United States at the present time. These figures would mean that about one banker in every six is either enrolled in Institute classes in banking or is actively supporting some educational function of the organization. No statement could possibly give more emphasis to the importance placed on education by the banking interests of America than these facts.

CAMPBELL LUMBER COMPANY AGENTS FOR G. E. ICE BOX

The Campbell Lumber company recently became agents for the new General Electric refrigerating unit for this territory. One of the most popular models is on display at the local concern where, in quest of news, a Press representative observed it in operation.

From the standpoint of beauty alone the unit demands consideration and it is fully as good as it looks, according to Harold Morton, owner and manager of the lumber company.

"Here you have a complete, dry refrigerator," said Mr. Morton. "The box itself may be had in a variety of sizes and styles and two types of construction—pressed steel and paneled steel. The mechanism is unique—fool-proof, and ten years ahead of all other refrigerators."

"Well," said the Press man, "what makes it run?" "A one-eighth h. p. motor," replied Mr. Morton. "It is of the rotary, brushless type, silent in operation and which does not interfere in the least with the touchiest radio set. There are only three moving parts in the entire hermetically sealed mechanism, which, by the way, is covered by 3,000 basic patents, and the moving parts are oiled from a supply of lubricant which is calculated to last 50 years."

The news hound was greatly impressed. "Do you mean to say," he asked, "that the machine is expected to run 50 years without giving any trouble?"

"That, of course, is hard to say," replied Mr. Morton, "but I can tell you this much about it: If the unit becomes faulty within two years it is replaced with a new one free of charge, and if at any time within 20 years it goes wrong a new unit is supplied for the cost of trucking, etc."

The Press man pocketed his notebook and went away from there muttering, "Eureka!"

A theater party in San Jose was enjoyed during the early evening with a return to the Hedegard home for light refreshments.

Epworth league officials from all chapters of the local conference, which embraces all Methodist churches of Santa Clara county, met Tuesday evening, 7:30 o'clock, at the Campbell church. After the business session a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the local league members.

INDUSTRIOUS BEES CRIPPLE TELEPHONES

Telephone service was partially crippled in the vicinity of Richmond, Mich., recently, because of the activities of a swarm of bees. The bees constructed a nest in a cable box high up on a fifty foot pole. The nest was built over the fuses, thereby causing short circuits to a large number of lines. When telephone employees ascertained the source of the difficulty, one of the "trouble shooters" donned heavy gloves and a mosquito netting mask and finally succeeded in removing the cause of the trouble.

HOOVER'S HOME ECONOMY. 89 YEARS, 89 MILLION. KAHN LOSES TITTA RUFFO. FOCH IS DEAD.

President Hoover, believing that economy should begin at home, will put the Presidential yacht Mayflower out of commission. The President will do his yachting in a rowboat when fishing. The country will save $300,000 a year, and 148 sailors that have wasted their time on the Mayflower will be assigned to new naval vessels.

The Mayflower has been added to the cost of maintaining a President ever since the days of Theodore Roosevelt, and President Hoover's determination to discontinue a thoroughly undemocratic arrangement will be generally appreciated.

The people would not grudge a good President any comfort or luxury. But a $300,000 yacht tacked on to a $75,000 salary seems fantastic.

George F. Baker, dean of American bankers, ruler of the gigantic First National of New York, which is one of his minor possessions, has celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday.

For every year that he has lived, Mr. Baker has given at least a million dollars to education and other good purposes.

Everybody wishes him many more years to get and give.

Since the people do not yet know enough to develop their own resources and supply what they need, it is fortunate that they have such men as Baker, Rockefeller and others to show them how.

Otto H. Kahn, protector of grand opera, learns that his enemy is the talking moving picture. That must surprise him as much as it surprised the seventy-foot dinosaurs when the rats ate them.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have taken Titta Ruffo from Mr. Kahn's Metropolitan Opera to sing for the movies, and it was as simple "as taking candy from a child."

Mr. Ruffo sings ten times before a recording machine and is paid $350,000, or $35,000 for each short singing period.

Even the Metropolitan's diamond horseshoe cannot compete with that.

Marshal Foch is dead. Farewell to a great warrior, a true man. He has gone and taken his wages—a name that will live in history and the eternal gratitude of his countrymen.

In command of all the allied armies, he had 10,000,000 men under his command, by far the greatest army gathered together since men first began wholesale killing. And his motto, that every man should adopt, was: "THE OFFENSIVE ALWAYS."

Allons, "Let us go," was the last word uttered by Marshal Foch. It is the first word of the French national hymn that he heard so often, the hymn to which the Revolutionary soldiers marched from the south of France into Paris. "Allons enfants de la patrie," etc.

The last words of great men, piously collected, have little value. The great men probably did not know what they were saying. Mehr Licht, "more light," were the last words of Goethe.

Frederick the Great's last words are supposed to be tete d'armee, "head of the army." He often spoke French in preference to German.

Pitt, whose genius kept Napoleon out of England, said as he died, "My country, how I leave thee." He was worried about the future.

What a man does while he lives is more important than what he says when he dies.

After all, what is the most important thing in baking?

Is it measuring and mixing ingredients? Is it selecting certain ingredients? All Home Economists know that after all, the most important thing is the correct oven temperature.

For almost anyone using care can measure and mix good ingredients accurately and follow a tested recipe. But in the baking—that's where all your best efforts meet the real test.

Today, leading Home Economists are turning to a device that keeps the oven at any temperature. It is called the Oven Heat Control and is a part of the new Gas Range.

See these new Gas Ranges at your dealer's. Or phone or call at our office.

Editorial

It is good to have money and the things that money can buy, but it's good, too, to check up once in a while and make sure you haven't lost the things that money can't buy. —Lorimer.

THE QUALITY OF MERCY

"The quality of mercy is and magistrates who have it not strained," said Shakespeare. at their disposal no longer need to dig into their own pockets to help the needy that come before them.

But some magistrates are beginning to think that it is. Time and again they have been under a financial strain due to their own kindness and some such system be adopted mercy. Often a magistrate is moved to such pity by the plight of a man or woman before him that he digs down into his own pocket to assist the needy person.

Now a little group of men in New York who themselves started life in the humblest fashion, have decided to bear the burden of the Magistrates' benevolence. They have thus far raised over $7,000 for distribution by the magistrates in worthy causes, and expect to raise much more. The fund is already in practical operation, circumstances.

KISSING

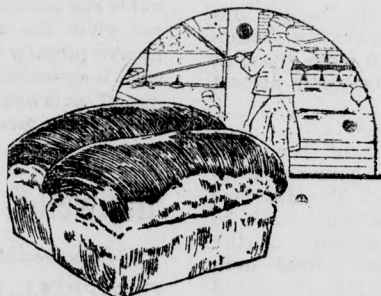

Opinions on kissing differ. First the health experts warned us all against it as a promulgator for colds and more serious illnesses.

Now science tells us that kissing is an exercise that makes for health by speeding up sluggish hearts and increasing the circulation of the blood, and recently a group of chorus girls took part in a scientific kissing test which showed that the stimulus of kissing created a real good response from a health standpoint.

We are waiting for the doctors to begin prescribing kissing, and for men and women to walk about with special doctor's certificates entitling them to pet in public for the sake of health.

Men who haven't done so for years will begin kissing their wives with great ardor—what a difference that will make in matrimony and the entire field of domestic relations!

And then perhaps kissing will be made compulsory in the interests of science and health. What we are afraid of is that once this happens people will begin to lose interest in the time-honored game of osculation.

Suddenly, out of a spring sky...

ALL was well on the telephone front on April 27, 1928. Suddenly, out of a spring sky, rain began to fall, and as night came on this turned into a furious storm of sleet, snow and wind. In 48 hours, 3700 telephone poles and 7000 miles of wire were down; 39 exchanges were isolated; 11,000 telephones were silent.

Repair crews were instantly sent to the scene. In record time 1000 men from five states were on the job. Within 72 hours the isolated exchanges and telephones were back in service.
